

Wake Up!

People of color feel, we've turned a racial corner as of November 4, 2008. Get real, with millions of Blacks and Latinos enslaved in chains. Plus, the senseless murders of Oscar Grant, Trayvon Martin, and Jordan Russell Davis. (All due to racial profiling.)

To people of color, I have a question I would like to ask each and everyone of you bright young people. Are you too blind to open up your eyes, and see what's really the problem or what's really going on in your communities as well as your diverse neighborhood?

Whoever feel they live in a post racial society, just because we have a Black President in office and a Black Attorney General elected. Don't let the wool be pulled over your eyes so easily or be misled. We ~~are~~ as an entire race - a race of people of color have much work to do.

It's an honor to have some flavor in the White House. But, with all flavoring as opposed to a gourmet meal, it loses it's taste when it's been left out in the weather too long, and sampled by too many people. Too many chefs stirring the pot leaves the pot, where the flavor is throwed off.

I once heard over a radio broadcast about a college educated brother doing an old woman's dishes, and I thought to myself, "This brother is really in touch with the poor people of society. Almost like the last great Black Hope. Can you take us to the promised land?"

Message: Never lose touch with the constituents who put you in office or the people of color whom society has deemed as unsavory, uncoth, and unworthy cretins.

The industrial complexes, where we (the people of color whom society has deemed as unsavory, uncoth, and unworthy cretins) are housed and governed

It's like a bedlam for corruption, and military type of get quick rich schemes, long term financial support (for prison staff and it's employees.), and a monopoly of unfair business practices that targets inmates and their families. While leaving their families broke - in an effort to support these criminalistic type of activities that goes on in the State of Nevada.

We as people of color must strive to make changes in the criminal justice system.

We all know the system is broke, It's time to fix it. Let's not wait for another tragedy to occur, and then become concerned.

When it comes to Blacks and Latinos - we are shafted, bamboozled, and nicked, when it comes time to receiving our fair share of legal protection, and legal justice.

And, in most cases concerning Black and Latinos. We are painted as the villain before any words has ever been exchanged or any type of proper investigation has taken place.

By how our young Blacks and young Latinos dress. We are like a person with a bulls eye painted on our backs as targets, and in a season of where game is hunted. The people of color is the target, and the hunt is on!

The biggest crime in the United States is to divide and conquer. Once, a race is divided. They are easily conquered.

One of the greatest commandments in the Bible is to show love, as well as "Love Thy Neighbor".

A righteous person leads by example. If, the example we teach our kids is... if you mess up in society - you're nothing to no one not even your own blood kin.

A travesty of that nature sends out the wrong message. Why? Because, the same young Blacks and Latinos that's locked-up. Is predominately someones Father, Brother, Uncle, or Cousin.

If, it's in our hearts to hate. How do our kids interpret the mis-placed hate on the seeds of bitterness - we are unknowingly planting inside their heads?

What is fair nowadays? Is it fair for a college student to have to pay a four year loan off at an astonishing astronomical rate of $120,000, and once college is complete there's no work in their field of training.

And while looking for lesser paying jobs - a college educated person is deemed as overqualified. (Don't that just insult your intelligence?)

Is it fair for Blacks and Latinos to be warehoused for x-amount of years with no definite release date? Is it fair for prison industrial complexes to receive large grants from the government (for our support), when 95% of the money ends up - in the highest of the food chain, who runs these prisons with an iron fist.

What is up with all this noise I hear about post racial promises? Let me make this loud and clear. There is a war going on, (and it doesn't pertain to Iraq, Afghanistan, Kuwait, Libya, Sudan, Tunisia, Yemen, or Somalia.) it pertain to the poor, and the have-nots - in the United States of America. If, you find yourself in this category - you'll see how quick you are swept into this vacuum of hate and bigotry.

When, it's politically correct to address certain key topics pertaining to our race. We make nice and smile for the cameras, grab a few headlines, and kiss a few babies. Then, it's back to business as usual.

In the interim of things. The problems are long forgotten, and the movement/cause becomes dead.

With prisons throughout the United States collecting a life time of interest from big banks, and the government sponsoring these type of criminalistic activities that's well hidden from the public's eyes. Because, the spotlight is always shined on the criminal, who the media have turned into a media sensation. (More like a circus freak - if you asked me or perhaps - a person put on the auction block, in preparation to be sold into slavery to the highest bidder.)

Which kind of reminds me of when I was a little boy back in East Texas, and I observed a cow auction take place - front and center. Now, while at the cow auction, the announcer is talking real fast, and real slick. Almost like there is something hidden or not quite right with the product being sold.

If, you listen closely and pay close attention. You can learn, what these so-called-politicians are doing to our country, destroying the entire Black and Latino Race, creating hate - where there should be love.

Big businesses outsourcing jobs to some foreign country like China or Japan. Where slave labor runs rampant. Because, what goes on behind closed doors. Stays behind closed doors.

Until, Blacks and Latinos, realize they must make a conscious effort to save their youngest son's Father, Brother, Uncle, or Cousin. (The same goes for women who's locked-up, Mama, sister, Aunt, or Cousin Faith.)

Why should we be concerned as a race of people of color? Because, if every adult male or female is locked-up. Then, there's no more role models or community leadership - in which a kid can look up to.

As the song by Brian McKnight sings, "Do I ever cross your mind."

Well, I'd like to pose this question for my intellectual types. Does it ever cross your mind, when plantation owners was kidnapping Africans from their very own soil in Africa - in the 1800s. What stopped these atrocious crimes from continuing?

It was partly due to our brave abolitionists (in the likes of such luminaries as Frederick Douglas.) who spoke up to change laws.

The movement to abolish slavery as well as well as the civil rights movement was strong. Why? Because, it not only affected one family member. It affected the whole entire race of Black People.

When an entire race is affected by atrocious acts being waged upon our peoples. We, as a whole of Black People are drawn closer, because we suffer the same lifeline. I have a question to the college educated and the intellectual types. How many more people of color have to be locked-up before mass incarceration is abolished?

1 million, 5 million, 10 million, 15 million, 20 million, or
50 MILLION,

I know you've heard the term, "Closed mouths don't get fed." Well... if mass incarceration is not addressed on our senate floor or the elaborate White House,

If, our voices are not being heard where it matters the most.

CONSIDER, THE ENTIRE BLACK AND LATINO RACE EXTINCT IN THE NEXT 50 YEARS.

If, everyone is locked-up, and not being able to produce a seed of their own race - in complete likeness. Then, the numbers for vital statistic decreases, and the population for that race becomes smaller, until there's nothing left at all. (Kind of like an endangered species.)

The question is... do you want your entire race wiped off the face of the earth by greedy capitalist, who view you as collateral damage, while using you as a pawn in the larger scheme of things to keep your own people oppressed?

On each key issue, we must stand up and fight! We must let our voices be heard, until it shakes the grounds of Washington like a ~~evil~~ tyrant caught with their pants down, shivering! We must unite!

Our young black males between the ages of 17-25 are targets for the law enforcement. Why? Why are they targeted? Why are they harassed? Why are they racially profiled? I'll answer these questions plain and simple. It's because, without our younger black brothers and sistahs - the mass incarceration machine wouldn't continue to thrive in crossover regions or be permitted to function at a high level. So, the plan is to keep the machine running in the poor neighborhoods where there's an abundance of Blacks and Hispanic populations. If the mass incarceration machine primarily stays targeted in those two sections, then a profit will be able to be earned. (Almost like cops pulling motorists over for fraudulent speeding tickets or whatever lie that can be fabricated. A quota must be filled. The quota has now become young human life.)

Without innocent bystanders, victims, and children of the ghetto. There would be job layoffs, job cuts across the board, benefits taken away, and pensions downsized to what minimum wage payed in the late 80s.

There's a genocide war going on. The cold fact is... a lot of people of color are too blind to see what's going on, or practically just don't care, or plain ignorant, or they're too selfish to the needs of others. Either, they know and they just point blank don't care at all.

With mass incarceration sweeping across the United States at an alarming rate, while targeting our young Blacks and Latinos. Greedy capitalist have deliberately and systematically targeted both racial groups for the total annihilation and complete destruction. The most barbaric thing about the evil atrocious acts, It's all done under the guise or under the presumption of big business. (Slavery was big business in the 1800s. Is mass incarceration, the new norm for modern day slavery?) Your hard earned tax dollar put to good use.

To enslave your own race as opposed to providing a higher education to an aspiring young beautiful black woman, where she ^{can} aspire to become a Campus Queen.

Or, seeing that our kids have astounding teachers such as Professor Imani Perry, or good books to learn and study from,

The one thing about a cause or a movement. All it takes is one spank to wake a sleeping nation.
